Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

The primary is over and all good citizens who backed a loser will now swallow their disappointment in sportsmanly manner and tackle the next campaign with vigor and vim. The Nugget congratulates the winners and offers varying degrees of sympathy to those who lost. The next event is a national election of first class importance. It is more important perhaps than we shall see again in this generation. We are turning a corner, not the one President Hoover spoke of so hopefully a few years ago, but one that we believe will present an entirely new vista, economically and politically

Regarding this new direction and the "end of the lane" to which it will lead, we are just as much in doubt as millions of other voters are. But gradually we feel that public sentiment is being crystalized, a purpose emerging among the thinking Americans. It needs a lot of thinking but millions of Americans today are trying to think it through.

If we had only to choose between two men or among three, the matter would be very simple. We would say to President Roosevelt: "We know that you are an aristocrat in blood, tradition, inheritance and wealth, an idealist, who desires nothing better than to serve this country well, to lift it to a higher plane. We like your Harvard accent, your splendid voice over the radio and your fine contagious smile in the films. We don't approve altogether of the way you raised your family, and think your children might have been more thoughtful of the high estate to which their father has been raised, but we know how hard it is for rich indulgent fathers to rear their children in the way that they should go. And we confess that if we were to choose a man on his personality alone, President Roosevelt, we would cast our vote for you in November.

"On the other hand, take your college boy, James. A likable youngster in many ways, who has been arrested umpty-ump times for breaking speed laws in the various states through which he whirls. We wonder, if he does not come by his impatience with cops and laws and stop signs, rather honestly. Your own course with Congress for instance. Your own short cuts to a millenium by jamming through laws, such as the NRA, the AAA, the Guffy coal bill, and others that were halted abruptly in mid-flight by the U. S. Supreme Court. Your petulant exclamation about "horse and buggy days"; your son, James, might have exclaimed when the copper stopped him."

And we cannot forget that a barber in New Jersey and a mechanic in Pennsylvania went to jail because they did not comply with the price fixing schedule of the illegal NRA. We remember that a major general in the army, was abruptly suspended for speaking his mind in what was supposed to be an executive or closed meeting of a Congressional investigating committee. There are only straws in the wind, of course, but they all blow in the same direction—toward dictatorship.

There are larger things that also give us an uneasy feeling of what may be revealed when we actually turn that "corner." We noticed a cartoon the other day, showing the President waking from a sound slumber in his little cot. On his face the terrified expression of a man suffering a night mare. The night mare was a huge sow pressing upon his chest with her forefeet. With a reproachful expression on her porcine face the sow was asking: "Where are my six million little pigs?" Those were the pigs that were "plowed under" two years ago, and which now this country sadly needs. For we have had droughts that have helped with avengeance to put into practice the Roosevelt "brain trust's" theory of scarcity as a means of raising prices.

If high prices can restore prosperity, we now are in the midst of it. For prices for most food commodities are much higher, right here in Nevada City, than they were last year at this time. If you don't believe it ask your grocer. He will tell you. Most women who do the household buying don't have to be told. Food prices are advancing faster than wages. This is a condition which always fosters strikes. In the coming year we shall see some of the bloodiest and most bitterly fought strikes in the history of this country. They are inevitable.

Tradition has it that King Canute, legendary ruler of England, with a broom one fine day attempted to sweep back the tides on the seashore. The tides came right on in, regardless. The moon which makes the tides paid no attention to the broom. We may meddle and attempt to divert the force of economic laws, the law of supply and demand; we may, yes. But in the long run the law asserts itself. Our puny effort is brushed aside. Millions starved to death in 1933-34 in Russia because the Soviet dictator robbed the country of its wheat in order to back Russia's foreign credit. In this country, we too, have created an artificial scarcity, and the droughts have augmented the scarcity in bread grains and meat. We shall not suffer starvation of course, but we shall be taxed mightily to support a million or two of people who otherwise would starve.

Apologists for the Roosevelt administration of course, will say: "But no one could foresee a drought". True, nor can anyone forecast an earthquake, nor a devastating fire. But we do insure ourselves against these things and we do not leave ourselves wide-open to the assaults of the elements.

FOREST SERVICE TRUCK DRIVER HAS CLOSE CALL

Harold Shugart Nevada City truck driver for the United States Forest Service, narrowly escaped being burned to death at the Nichols Canyon fire which burned over several hundred acres of fine young timber stand near Sierraville recently. Shugart was driving a supply truck through the area when a sudden change of wind threw the fire against his truck. Slight burns were inflicted on his face and second degree burns on the entire length of his left forearm. On the truck at the time were five gallons of kerosene and about 20 gallons of high test gasoline. The kerosene ignited and was immediately thrown into the fire by a firefighter riding with Shugart. The gasoline, strangely, did not ignite. Shugart was given medical attention at the Loyalton Hospital and is now under the care of Dr. W. W. Reed at Nevada City.

FOREST SERVICE MEN TO PLANT MILLION TREES

One million seedlings from the Forest Service nursery at Susanville will be planted by the rangers mostly next spring according to Regional Forester S. B. Show. The greater part will be planted on the Sugar Hill area in the Modoc National Forest, denuded by fire several years ago, and on the Burney Springs area of the Lassen National Forest where the Forest Service is converting brushfields into timber by the planting of over 500 miles of trees in wide strips through the chaparral. Smaller areas in brushfields will be planted on the Plumas and Shasta forests.

RIDGE RESIDENTS HOME FROM SIX WEEKS TRIP

Miss Therese O'Connor of French Corral and her sister Mrs. Margaret Madden returned yesterday from a six week vacation trip which took them into British Columbia where they visited the cities of Victoria and Vancouver. From there they went to Lake Louise which they declare is one of the most beautiful lakes they have ever seen. They then went on via the Canadian Pacific to St. Paul and Minneapolis and south to Iowa where they were guests of their sister, Mrs. Sarah Crawford, who resides near Iowa City in Keokuk county. Mrs. Crawford in years past has often visited in Nevada City and French Corral. They came home by way of Denver and the Rio Grande railroad. They state that the weather was delightfully cool almost the entire time of their trip. In Iowa, they said, the drought has proved disastrous over the most of the state.

PEACE OFFICERS TO HOLD TARGET PRACTICE

The Nevada-Sierra County Peace Officers association will hold a meeting in Downieville today, the dinner to be held in Sierra City. The last meeting was July 25, in Grass Valley with dinner at the National Hotel here.

The shoot held then was won by Nevada County with 72 points in the lead. It is understood that George Hammill, highway patrolman won the largest number of points for the Nevada County team. Captain Joe Blake, of this division, was high man, but not a member of the Nevada county team. The shoot today is the first of three meeting shoots.

CONGRESS NEEDS REPUBLICANS TO GAIN BALANCE

Chairman Bolton's appeal for a Republican Congress deserves special attention. Even if conditions were very different and the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt was unlikely and it was impossible to elect a Republican majority in the House of Representatives, it would nevertheless be of utmost importance to elect as many Republicans to the House as possible.

No student of the American form of government denies the assertion that when one party outnumbers the other in the House by a very large majority—it is about three to one at present — representative party government fails to function effectively. The reason is that the Administration can always find enough men to jam through its measures without discussion or consideration. Hence, the House ceases to be a deliberative body and becomes little more than a rubber stamp. As Senator Carter Glass said the other day in his talk about Patrick Henry, Congress deserves heavy censure for abjectly surrendering its constitptional functions and delegating them to the President and his assistants.

How futile is mere party opposition when the disproportion of strength is as great as at present may be seen from the fact that when the latest tax bill was up for consideration many of the Republicans did not even bother to attend the session because they knew that they would be overridden and that their remarks would go unheeded. Such a situation is a mockery of our constitutional form of government.

Under the circumstances it is imperative that there be not only a large Republican delegation in Congress, but that this delegation be composed of men of high character and ability. Fortunately, Mr. Bolton and his aids who are helping organize the Congressional Committee of the Republican Party are fully aware of this and are eager to see men of exceptional ability put forward for the Congressional nominations. This in itself can help the Republican cause. If in addition to the strong Presidential ticket the party can nominate for the Senate and the House men of the same high caliber as Messrs. Landon and Knox it can expect a large measure of success all the way down the line.—New York Tribune.

MISS GERTRUDE GOYNE RETURNS FROM HAWAII

Miss Gertrude Goyne, who has been spending a vacation in the Hawaiian Islands visiting Miss Lucy Ward and her mother, arrived in San Francisco yesterday morning. In a message to her brother, R. R. Goyne in Nevada City she stated she will be in Nevada City Sunday Miss Ward visited in this city and has many friends here.

SERVICES IN TRINITY CHURCH

Services will be held next Sunday in the Trinity Episcopal church with the Rev. Charles F. Washburn preaching at 11 o'clock. Sunday school will not be resumed until the close of the school vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Spargo have just completed a new home on the Willow Valley road northeast of Nevada City. Mrs. Spargo entertained her club in the new home Thursday afternoon.

FOREST FIRE IS RESULT OF GAS WAR ON HORNETS

Gasoline is an excellent agent in the extermination of yellow jackets but may result in unlooked for complications. This was the experience of Messrs. George Johnson, William Carlton and William Fager, according to report received from the office of DeWitt Nelson, Supervisor of the Tahoe National Forest. The men, according to Nelson, while engaged in wood cutting operations on the Kirkpatrick mining claim near Downieville, fell a tree containing a large nest of yellow jackets. The yellow jackets proceeded to make it warm for the men and they in retaliation doused the tree with gasoline and iet it afire. After this little matter was settled, they put the fire out as they thought and went to camp for lunch. Shortly after lunch they saw smoke and upon arriving at the scene of operations found the fire had revived and spread to about 1-8 acre. The men immediately put put a line around the fire and had it under control. In the meantime the Forest Service lookouts had spotted the smoke and the suppression crew arrived at the scene about the time the fire was controlled.

An investigation was made by District Ranger George King and Forest Service Law Enforcement Officers G. L. Fraser and M. Williamson. Responsibility for the fire was freely admitted by Johnson, Carlton and Fager. Owing to the quick action taken by them to control the fire and the evident lack of intent to start the fire, Supervisor Nelson approved a proposal by the law enforcement officers to settle on the actual cost to the Forest Service in investigating and definitely extinguishing the fire.

"This illustrates." says Nelson, "one reason why we are always reluctant to accept an individual's judgment as to when a fire is safe or when it is safe to start one. Forest officers who have largely specialized in fire control and its connection with weather conditions, know that often a potential danger still exists when an individual thinks otherwise."

SEVEN ABSENT VOTERS MAY DECIDE ELECTION

Seven absentee voters ballots may decide the supervisor contest in the second district of Sierra county which includes Alleghany, Forest and Pike.

Elton Carvin lacks but three votes of a majority to win the election over Thomas Davies, incumbent, and George Dillon.

STATE EMPLOYEES NUMBER 24,000

California has an army of nearly 24,000 state employes, exclusive of those working for the state relief administration.

William Brownrigg, executive officer of the state personnel board, announced that 17,709 persons are employed regularly in governmental functions, 6,000 more at the state university and between 500 and 1,000 others in seasonal work.

This, said the official, means that California has one state employe for about every 330 citizens. Of the 17,000 regular employes, all but about 2,000 are under civil service.

Sacramento county leads all other counties in the state in the number of employees—exclusive of university attaches—with 3,425. San Francisco has 2,379 and Los Angeles 2,364.

Brownrigg also revealed the following number of employes in various Superior California counties:

Alpine 16, Amador 187, Butte 184, Calaveras 36, Colusa 26, Contra Costa 51, Del Norte 54, El Dorado 52, Glenn 21, Humboldt 310, Lassen 52, Napa 725, Nevada 59, Placer 70, Plumas 93, Shasta 257, Sierra 8, Siskiyou 111, Solano 50, Sutter 24, Tehema 54, Trinity 52, Yolo 31 and Yuba 125.

Miss Marion Maton arrived Monday from Chicago, Illinois, She will make her home with her mother who resides in Grass Valley.

CAPT. WILLARD, SPEAKS AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Ted Janiss was program chairman at yesterday's Rotary luncheon. He introduced Capt. A. H. Willard, of the California Fish and Game Commission, who gave an interesting address on the game and fish resources of this region and methods used in protecting and rearing game. Capt. Willard is stationed here.

BIG FIRE RAGES NEAR SAN JUAN

State Ranger William F. Sharp, truck and crew of 14 were called from the state camp at Nevada City at 1:30 yesterday afternoon to two fires a mile, and a half mile, respectively south of North San Juan's base ball park where there was a big fire several weeks ago. Dense clouds of smoke seen from Nevada City indicated it was burning fiercely.

Five men were called from the state camp at Shady Creek; the Tahoe National Forest sent twenty CCC boys from Camp Bradley; and a fire truck from Junction House. At about three o'clock the fire had spread over 350 acres and calls were sent further distances for help. In response a fire truck was sent from the state camp at Davis, west of Sacramento; a Placer county crew from Colfax, a Dobbins crew, Yuba county, and Hurleton CCC boys, Butte county. It was burning fiercely at last accounts.

NEVADA COUNTY RE-ELECTS ALL CANDIDATES

Congressman Harry L. Englebright, State Senator Jerrold L. Seawell, Assemblyman Jesse Mayo, and Supervisor Cary S. Arbogast were all re-elected as a result of Tuesday's primary election. The voters of Nevada City gave R. L. P. Bigelow, former forest supervisor a large majority in his race for the state senatorship, but other districts either split their vote, approximately fifty-fifty or gave Senator Seawell a majority. This was especially true of Placer county.

In addition to re-electiong Supervisor Arbogast, the other two supervisorial districts re-elected incumbents. In the Grass Valley district Frank Rowe succeeds himself, and in the Truckee district, Alex Robertson has been returned, both by substantial majorities.

GRAMMARSCHOOL TO OPEN SEPT. 14

Washington grammar school of Nevada City will reopen Monday, September 14, in the old building. This is due to delay in completion of the new one. Two new teachers, Misses May Snell of Nevada City and Winifred Grant, of San Francisco, have been added to the staff this year, giving the school fifteen teachers.

The other teachers are: Principal Walter Carlson; Clark McGinnis, Miss Gertrude Goyne, Miss Lois Shaw, Miss Ruth Tamblyn, Miss Ruth Hogan, Miss Susette Dornberger, Miss Savory Ford, Mrs. Mary Warnecke, Mrs. Mable Flint, Miss Florence Smart, Mrs. C. A. Libby and Mrs. Isobel Hefelfinger. Miss Smart will teach at You Bet a branch of the Nevada City grammar school. Mrs. Libby is music instructor and Mrs. Hefelfinger is health nurse. Mr. Joe O'Neill, faithful and efficient, has again been selected as janitor.

The steel lath for the new building is nearly all in place inside the new twelve-class room building, ready for plastering.

SACRAMENTO JR. COLLEGE OFFERS MINING COURSE

A great opportunity has this year been opened to persons interested in mining in the northern part of the state. The Sacramento Junior College has organized a new mining department and is endeavoring to give courses which will prepare the students for upper division mining engineering courses in the various western universities.

Mr. W. F. Dietrich, who is to handle the courses in mining, was formerly a professor at Stanford University and, beside having practical experience in mining, has recently been on the staff of the United States Bureau of Mines. Mr. F. P. Vickery, formerly assistant professor in the Department of Geology at the University of California at Los Angeles and geologist for various oil companies, is presenting the courses in geology and minerology. The geology courses are planned to give the theoretical background of mining.

Among the courses offered at the college this year are:

Physiographic geology, physical geology, historical geology, general paleontology, mineral deposits, petrology, mineral deposits, sight determination of minarels, blow rpipe determination of minerals, crystallography, introduction to mining, introduction of metallurgy, mine equipment and operation, mine surveying, ore dressing, practice, advanced metallurgy, wet assaying, fire assaying.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marten returned Tuesday from a vacation in San Francisco and Santa Cruz. At the latter place they visited Marten's aunt. Mrs. Marten's nephews, Joe Glass and JaJck Sullivan who had visited in Nevada City the past six weeks, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Marten to their home in San Francisco.

"Knock, Knock"

(Contributed)

That "knock knock" punning epidemic now sweeping the country has serious-minded men wondering if a mild touch of insanity may be at the base of it, indicating the temper of the times.

The San Francisco News says, in effect, that it's not the heat, but the politics, and illustrates this way. Someone says "knock, knock!" and someone else asks "Who's there?" "Landon," is the reply. "Landon who?" And the answer, "Landon Bridge is Falling Down." Or, says the News, it might be Roosevelt. "Roosevelt who?" "When I Woke and Roosevelt Awful." The idea seems to be that the worst pun is the best answer.

Now the News goes on to deplore the fact that this "knock, knock" idea is altogether too prevalent in politics, that there is too much "knocking" of candidates and policies, and not nearly enough of calm, informative discussion.

While this is unquestionably true, it might be suggested that all the knocking could be made to serve a good and justifiable purpose. It could be directed against quack schemes, "isms", deceitful proposals—all things obviously undesirable or dangerous. Incessant, continuous knocking is deserved, for example by such things as the Single Tax proposal in California, with its deceptive Sales Tax repeal label.

As for the game "knock, knock," the theory that it reflects a mild touch of mass political insanity seems as good an explanation as any. Some of the monstrous puns now going the rounds have prompted people to ask whether it was the heat or the humidity. Probably it's neither. Probably it's the politics.

STATE SALES TAX NOW TOTALS $209,890 A DAY

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—Epoch making California sales tax collections for the three months ended June 30 amount to $19,100,000 or $209,890 per day. This was revealed here today in a report issued by the State Board of Equalization in whose office the tax is administered.

No other state in the Union has had such satisfactory results from its sales tax levies, according to the report, which points out that "examination of sales tax data from more than twenty states discloses that California collections far surpass those made elsewhere.

"Illinois, where the revenue most nearly approaches that derived here, has annual sales tax collections approximating $60,000,000. The population is about two million greater than in California. The rate of tax is the same, but applies to gasoline and to foodstuffs.

"Since exemption of these commodities reduces the yield by at least 25 per cent, if we had the same tax base in California that prevails in Illinois, our sales tax collections here would be $69,000,000 per year.

"This comparison is not intended as a reflection on Illinois sales tax administration, which we understand is regarded as reasonably effective, but merely to show what excellent results have been obtained in California where collections have averaged $6,000,000 per month during the past fiscal year contrasted with $5,000,000 in a state where the population is a third larger and the tax base a quarter greater."

Recognizing that some of this difference may be attributed to more prosperous conditions in California the Board report concludes with this observation:

"Granting that California should excel in sales tax collections as it does in other things, we take what we believe to be pardonable pride in the remarkable results which have been obtained under our administration of the act. The loose charges of losses in collection, wholly unsubstantiated by facts, could only have emanated from those whose criticism is actuated by political bias rather than by any honest desire to contribute to the public welfare."

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Odegaard and family departed Thursday morning for Santa Cruz for a short vacation. Oscar Jr. will register at the University of Santa Clara for the coming school year and remain at the school. The family will return September first.

AVERAGE COST OF EDUCATION AT U. C. $445, YEAR

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—The student who is willing to work should have no difficulty in making his or her way through the University of California, according to Merton E. Hill, director of admissions on the Berkeley and Los Angeles compuses of the University.

One of the most common questions asked by the prospective student, says Mr. Hill, is "How much will it cost me per year if I attend the University?" By referring to compiled statistics, the director of admissions is now able to answer that question.

Itemized statements of expenses have been received from 930 students and the average cost per year at the University has been found to be $445. This figure is $250 per year greater on the average than the cost of attending a junior college.

However, when information received from junior college transfers on the campus during the academic year 1935-36 was studied, it showed that 68 per cent were earning all or nearly all of their expenses. The average amount earned per year was $219 or only six dollars less than the difference between the average cost of attending the University and that of attending a junior college.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deal of Forest spent Tuesday in Nevada City visiting Mr. Deal's sister, Mrs. Al Williams and family.

The Scourge

Consider the scourge of the forest;
The camp fire left burning unguarded
By fisherman, hunter or tourist,
The match tossed aside while ignited,
A cigarette dropped unextinguished,
These are potential disaster.

Fire is the scourge of the forest—
Fire which we might have prevented,
Fire which we thoughtlessly kindled,
And that which was made for man's pleasure
Stands stark and denuded before us,
Robbed of its glory forever.

We come for the wildwood invites us,
Its whispering voices are calling—
Offering peace for our turmoil,
Offering health and enjoyment;
Shall we then unleash in these temples
The demon of wanton destruction?

Fire is the scourge of the forest
Bringing wild terror and death
To innumerable innocent creatures,
Ruin to homes men have builded
And sylvan delights they have cherished;
Demanding cruel, unmerciful labor
Of those who all danger discounting
Must combat and conquer its insensate fury.

Fire is the scourge of the forest.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

Delbert Schiffner and Robert Schiffner left for Reno early this week, Delbert to resume his studies at Nevada State University; Robert a graduate of the Nevada City high school with the class of 1936 to enter the university as a freshman.

U. S. Loses Trade by New Treaties

Foreign Nations Dump Products Here Under Latest New Deal Policies.

Washington, D. C.—American foreign trade balances are shrinking rapidly as a direct result of the New Deal Party's reciprocal tariff treaties, latest figures released by the Department of Commerce show.

The United States is losing daily with every country with which the New Deal treaties have been put into operation, the figures show.

At the same time, United States imports jumped upward, from $1,644,055,000 in 1934, before the treaties went into effect, to $2,047,237,000 in 1935 after the agreements were in operation.

Only Germany Barred.

Germany is the only country in the entire world that does not reap the benefits of the tariff reductions in the New Deal treaties, because Secretary of State Cordell Hull ruled Germany out of the reciprocal tariff system.

All in all, for the first six months of 1936, foreign trade books of the United States were in the red $9,011,000 as compared with a black ink showing of $29,645,000 for the corresponding period in 1935. Meanwhile, the American trade position with Germany improved more than 400 percent.

The report reveals that with 14 of the 51 nations of the world, American exports actually declined in the first six months of 1936, causing Americans to lose millions of dollars.

Cuba Shows Gains.

The negative balance of trade with Cuba, which is always present because of heavy United States sugar purchases, jumped from $31,628,000 to $51,935,000 under the reciprocal treaties.

The favorable balance of trade with Brazil dropped from $26,111,000 to $24,712,000. The favorable balance with Canada dropped from $28,038,000 to $24,662,000.

With Sweden, in 1935, the United States had a favorable trade balance of $851,000, the report shows, but in 1936, after the New Deal's tampering, the United States had a negative balance with Sweden of $1,337,000.

Famous Historian Hits New Dealers on Broken Pledges

New York, N. Y. — America's most famous historian, James Truslow Adams, in his latest volume on current history, discloses that from the nonpartisan viewpoint of the historian the New Deal administration has broken more pledges to the people than any other administration.

"I cannot recall any other president and party which has gone so far in the solemnity of their pledges," Mr. Adams writes in his new book. "Nor do I recall any other such repudiation of them.

"That repudiation has not been the result of overwhelming circumstance, but has largely resulted from the endeavor to make over the whole pattern of our social and economic life to meet the personal approbation of a president.

"The question at once arises, how can self-government continue if a people cannot put trust in the most solemn pledges of the party and candidates for whom the majority vote?

"If we cannot do so, then the system of party government must crumble and we have nothing to take its place, except dictatorship or revolutionary chaos."

The book, "The Living Jefferson," is published by Scribners. Mr. Adams is the author, among others, of "Founding of New England," a Pulitzer prize winner, and "The Epic of America."

Landon Leading 2 to 1 in Six-State Radio Poll

Chicago, Ill.—Reflecting the nationwide swing away from the New Deal Party, Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican Presidential nominee, is maintaining a two-to-one lead over President Roosevelt in a poll conducted by the midwestern radio station, WIND.

Covering six states, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Iowa and Wisconsin, the poll requires that all votes must be written and sent in through the personal interest of the voter.

With Governor Landon showing better than 12,000 votes at the latest count and President Roosevelt trailing with less than 6,000, the minor candidates of Lemke, Browder and Thomas divided another 1,500 votes.

Evils of Restricted Production

No policy of restricting production and artificially raising prices is sound policy. Reduction of production inevitably affects the real wages of everyone; therefore, it lowers the standard of living. And, more than anything else, it leads to the bread lines, to ration cards and to a form of government that is not a democracy but an autocracy. (Frank Knox, Worcester, Mass., speech.)

CALIFORNIA FAIR FIRST HELD, 1854

Behind the 82nd annual California State Fair opening in Sacramento September 5 is a fascinating history of the struggle to make California achieve its present rank as the leading state in the nation in point of farm income.

Forward looking 49'ers knew that the California gold rush could not go on forever. The best way to emphasize the diversity of wealth in California, these pioneers determined, was to stage a state fair. As a result, the first state fair was held in San Francisco in 1854. For five years thereafter the fair moved from town to town on its evangelizing mission until 1860 when Sacramento was chosen as the permanent site.

The 1936 exposition will be held in the park of 155 acres. There are 148 buildings, many of them of concrete, and brick and steel structure. The entire plant is owned by the state and is valued at more than $2,000,000.

Commercial exhibit space was sold out and space for county displays was filled many weeks ago.

The horse racing program will be the biggest in the history of the fair. There are 500 entries.

Visitors will be greeted with a riot of color in the agricultural hall, which in the last two weeks has undergone a $10,000 decoration program. The colors will harmonize with the glittering county exhibits.

Livestock entries indicate that there will be a record number of exhibits.

Artists of world-wide fame will display their canvasses in one of the west's best art exhibitions. The more than 250 paintings will be under police guard.

The horse show, a nightly classic, the pioneer event of its kind on the coast will be larger than ever. There will be more than 300 horses in this event.

More than 150 finalists are expected to compete in the state-wide state fair amateur contest.

A high priced vaudeville program is arranged for the grandstand. Acts will be given between the horse races.

A sham battle with 1,000 soldiers participating will be staged. This will occur on National Guard Day, September 13.

As usual, the annual million dollar stock parade wiill be a feature.

Poultry exhibits is programmed to be the best in the west.

The mining industry will demonstrate with exhibits the reason for California's leadership in production of precious metals.

Horticulture and dairying, as usual, will furnish outstanding displays.

As annually, schools from every section of the state will be represented in the school exhibits building.

Women will participate in the polo games this year for the first time. There will be women's teams representing Northern and Southern California.

The machinery show held in the $100,000 implement building will be greater since 1929 if not in the history of the fair.

SEA PLANES TO BE USED BY FIRE FIGHTERS

Forest rangers in the Washington Cascade Range are looking for lakes a mile and a half long on which to land sea planes conveying fire fighters to forest blazes in remote parts of the national forests. Trial flights have been made from Seattle and five lakes have been selected out of forty surveyed, and arrangements made for the use of chartered planes when fires occur. According to Forest Service officers the use of lakes as landing fields in remote regions where road construction is lacking will enable the Forest Service to get quick action with small crews on forest fires and save damage and fire fighting costs, in addition to the expense of constructing landing fields for land planes.

COLT, 2 WEEKS OLD, SOLD

POMONA, Aug. 27—A purebred Arabian colt, named "Hot Weather," because he was born on the warmest day of the recent hot spell at the University of California's Kellogg Horse Ranch, has been sold to an Hawaiian importing and exporting firm at the unusually young age of two weeks. The colt will not be taken from his mother until he is about eight months old, and will then be sent to Honolulu. The real name given the colt, which comes from a famous line of parents, is "Shaub," this being the Arabian translation for hot weather.

BIGELOW PROPERTY

S. H. Gillespie has ten men employed in drifting in the tunnel and running mill at the Bigelow property at Sierra City. One of the largest gold nuggets ever to be found in this district was picked up near the surface on the Bigelow property several years ago. Nevada City people are interested in the property.

GIANT KING

Word has reached Nevada City that the Giant King mine of Washington east of Nevada City, has been leased by its owner, Jack A. Graves, to a mining company and work started the middle of this week. The road is to be put in shape in order to get in all machinery before winter starts, the compressor to be taken in at once. The property will be worked this winter.

FEDERAL BANK REPORTS FOOD PRICES RISING

Business activity in the Twelfth District in July was practically unchanged from the June level after allowance for the usual seasonal influenees. Industrial output increased sharply, but the advance took place principally in extremely seasonal industries in which activity customarily expands greatly in July. These industries include salmon canning, fruit and vegetable canning, and the beet sugar refining. Excluding the fruit and vegetable canning industry, industrial employment increased moderately, although little change has taken place in July of most other recent years. Pay rolls were also somewhat higher on a seasonally adjusted basis. The usual large increases in employment and pay rolls occurred at fruit and vegetable canneries. Value of building permits issued was about the same as in June but contract awards for engineering construction were somewhat higher. In general, seasonally adjusted measures of trade were unchanged.

Deterioration of crops in many parts of the country in July as a result of severe drought did not extend to the Twelfth District, and official estimates of most crops were about the same on August 1 as a month earlier. Prices of farm products continued to advance and in most cases were substantially higher than a year ago. The higher prices and relatively large supply of farm products to be marketed are expected to result in considerable expansion in district farm income this year.

The regulation announced by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in mid-July increasing by 50 per cent the reserve member banks are required to maintain against their deposit liabilities, became effective on August 15. Practically all district member banks had idle funds either in the form of excess reserves or large correspondent balances, and readily met the increase without borrowing from the Federal Reserve Bank or liquidating earning assets.

A substantial increase in reserve balances of district member banks during the five weeks ended August 19 resulted from United States Treasur disbursements in excess of local collections and a net inflow of funds from other districts because of commercial and financial transactions. Earning assets of reporting member banks increased slightly during this period, an advance in loans other than on securities and real estate more than offsetting a reduction in investments in direct obligations of the United States Government. Adjusted demand deposits increased to new record levels, but time deposits declined.

Share trading on Pacific Coast stock exchanges increased sharply during the latter part of July and the markets were more active than at any time since March. Daily turnover declined, however, during the first three weeks of August. Stock price averages were fractionally higher on August 20 than on July 20 but were still slightly lower than the peak for the recovery movement reached in February and March. Prices of Pacific Coast corporate bonds remained unchanged at the highest levels on record, while municipal bonds advanced. Offerings of new securities were negligible but the few small corporate issues which were marketed were for the purpose of providing new capital.

UNOPENED LETTERS

(By A. MERRIAM CONNER)

Letters written by me and found to be of no particular interest to the recipients, are courteously returned unopened.

Here are a few that have come back to me just recently.

Dear Governor Landon.

The Cleveland platform promises to collect war debts due us from foreign countries.

That sir, is a grand idea which if carried out should turn Mr. Hoover and President Franklin green with envy.

I'd like to handle some of that reluctant kale myself, so if and when elected you have any difficulty in rounding it up, just let me know and I'll come running.

Yours very truly, etc.

Dear Father Coughlin.

Please send me a de luxe copy of your Dictionary of Billingsgate—the one with the serpent's tongue etched on the cover.

This excellent work will be of great value to me as I am striving to acquire a vitrolic, virulent, vituperative vocabulary for use in the coming campaign.

Yours very truly etc.

Dear Editor.

Every now and then we read or hear that an innocent child has been shot by an "unloaded gun" in the hands of a playmate.

Action in this matter is long over due.

I have prepared, for introduction into the next state legislature, a bill which provides drastic punishment for criminally heedless parents who permit their babies to play with deadly weapons.

I hereby ask your full and active support of this measure and in return promise to take out a paid up subscription to the Nevada City Nugget.

I may even take out an extra subscription for Aunt Useba Merriam; poor old dear, she always borrows my papers and never remembers to bring them back.

Yours very truly.

FISH IS FOUND IN TOMB STONE

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—As far as is known, even the most accomplished fish story prevaricator has never made the claim that he pulled a fish out of a tombstone. But the University of California can now make that claim, and, it can prove likewise that the fish it extracted from the tombstone in question is the only one of its kind ever found on the American continent.

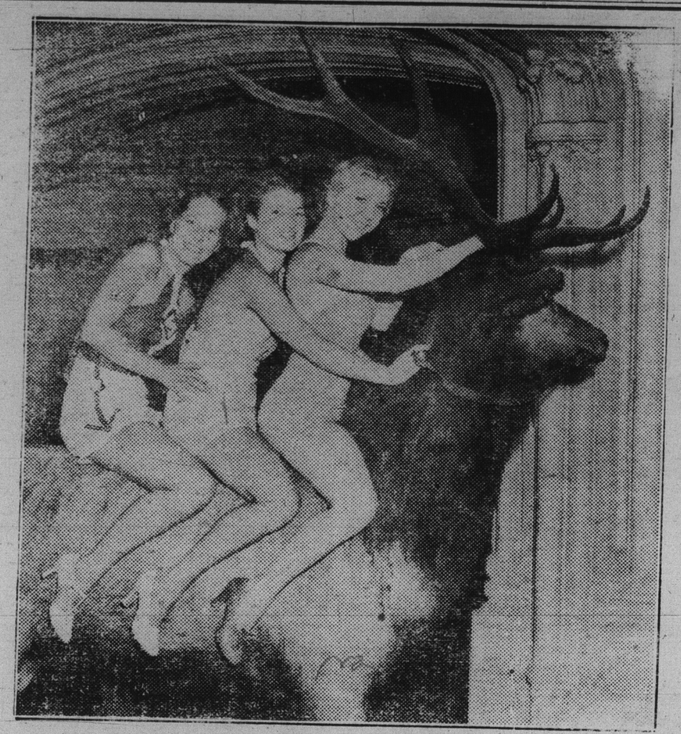
It seems that some time ago, W. W. Pruett of McKinney, Texas, was given an order to replace an old tombstone in the Rowlett Creek cemetery, near Frisco, in the same state. It was necessary to remove the foundation stones of the old marker and in the process one of these blocks of hard, buff colored limestone was accidently split open, disclosing the nearly complete skeleton of a fossil fish.

Sensing the importance of the specimen, Pruett communicated with the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College at College Station. The tombstone block was sent to that place, but for some reason or other, it was permitted to remain in storage, there, until paleontologists of the University of California heard of the find.

Upon examination the fish proved to be of a type previously unknown upon this continent. The examination made by C. J. Hesse of the Museum of Paleontology, disclosed that the fish was of the Cretaceous Age, possibly 120,000,000 years old, and was most closely related to fishes living in the old world. Since it was a new form, it was necessary that it be given a name and so it was called after the cemetery in which it was found—rowletti.

The fish is one of the many interesting and important fossil discoveries made in Texas, which state has contributed much data to the science of paleontology.

Taking A Slow Ride



No the three girls are not going to town—in fact they are not going anywhere in particular because the elk is stuffed, mounted and can not move. The girls are Ruth Nichols, Doris Miller and Marty Cocheo, three of the official hostesses for the Elks State Convention and according to the photographer the picture is not only a good picture of them, but of the symbol of the order. The convention takes place inOakland and opens September 4.

DISCOVERY OF FOSSIL POINTS TO LAND BRIDGE

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—A Scottish quarryman's spade has uncovered a reptilian skeleton which may definitely establish the existence of a land link between North America and the British Isles, during the Triassic Age, some two hundred million years ago.

This skeleton, now resting in a museum in Aberdeen, Scotland, was mentioned to Dr. C. L. Camp, director of the Museum of Paleontology at the University of California, while he was visiting fossil beds in Scotland last summer.

Upon visiting the museum, Dr. Camp found the remains to be of a type closely resembling Stagonopolis a crocodile-like reptile whose bones have been taken from Triassic sediments in the Painted Desert region of Arizona. An armor-plated, meat-eating terror with sharp claws and teeth, Stagonopolis lived along the edge of the sea which at that time stretched over the western part of present North America.

The fact that these skeletons resemble each other so closely seems to indicate, believes Dr. Camp, that at some time during the Triassic Age there was a land bridge between the British Isles and America which allowed this reptile family to spread over two continents.

Because this particular type of reptile is not found in the southern hemisphere, Dr. Camp believes that this land connection must have been in the north. He believes Greenland and Iceland may be remains of this strip of land which apparently was destroyed before the Permian Age opened.

ATASCADERO GETS U. S. LOAN FOR COOPERATIVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—The largest loan of its kind yet made by the Resettlement Administration to a self-help cooperative organization has been extended to the Atascadero Trading Association of Atascadero, California, according to an announcement today by Jonathan Garst, director of the ninth region, incorporating the states of California, Arizona, Utah and Nevada.

A check in the amount of $76,786.50 was paid over to O. F. Asbury, president of the Atascadero Trading Association, by William A. Anglim, head of the division of Community and Cooperative Services, at a presentation ceremony in which the 72 members of the cooperative canning, packing and marketing association participated.

Immediate purchase of a better located cannery building in Atascadero, with canning equipment designed for an annual capacity of from 750,000 to 1,000,000 cans, will be effected, Mr. Asbury stated, and the cooperative association will extend its operations, now largely in fruit, to vegetables and eventually to meats. A small poultry ranch, and a dairy consisting of 30 high grade cows will be acquired at once, as well as a hog enterprise with sufficient hogs to utilize the waste from the canning operations.

A completely stocked commissary for the members of the cooperative will also be set up.

"This association," declared Mr. Anglim, "while operating at present with 72 members, may enlist other members from the community of some 2500 in which it is located, as its activities expand. The Resettlement Administration has made this loan with the purpose of rehabiliating the agricultural inhabitants of one of the most interesting communities in the west."

CALIFORNIA GOLD OUTPUT HIGHEST IN 73 YEARS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Gold production of California's lode and placer mines during 1935, estimated today by the Bureau of Mines at 881,510 ounces, was worth more to the industry than the output for any year since the lush days of 1862—$32,097,580.

From the point of quantity 1935 was the most productive twelve months since 1917, the bureau reported.

"The gold mining industry and its dependent business have become bright spots in the industrial life of California," the bureau said, with a "large increase" in employment and buying the direct result of prospecting, development and equipping of new properties.

"Such activities appear, if anything, to be gaining momentum, and in 1936 there should be considerable expansion of the gold mining industry in California," the bureau observed.

Total 1935 gold production of 881,510 fine ounces represented an increase of 162,446 ounces over 1934 total of 719,064 ounces, worth $25,-131,287.

The combined value of the state's gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc output, with gold accounting for 97 per cent of the total, was $32,200,-701. In 1934 the combined worth of the five metals was $25,784,186.

Because of the "enormous productivity" of its Grass Valley-Nevada City district, Nevada county again was the leading metal-producing county in the state.

The outstanding development of the year, however was the restoration of Kern county to the ranks of the leading producers. There the rich Golden Queen mine, described by the bureau as "perhaps the most important discovery of gold in any new district in this country for over 25 years", was brought into production on Soledad mountain to lead the revival.

"Substantial outputs also were reported" the bureau said, "from many other counties, including Sacramento and Yuba, the most productive gold-dredging counties of the state; Amador, which contains the two deepest lode mines of the far west; Calaveras and El Dorado on the Mother Lode, and Sierra, which contains high grade ore in the Alleghany district."

Among the lesser metals, silver led the way, with total production of 1,199,500 ounces, worth $862,-141, compared with 844,413 ounces, worth $545,883 in 1934.

Copper output totaled 1,969,000 pounds, worth $163,095; 1,650,000 pounds of lead, valued at $66,000, was produced, and the state's output of zinc estimated at 264,000 pounds was worth $11,616.

World's Newest Big Show To Be Near Here

The world's largest circus, traveling on three trains of double-length steel railroad cars, with 1,080 people, 30 elephants, 812 menagerie animals and 500 horses will exhibit in Marysville, Monday, August 31 and throughout this section plans are perfecting for the attendance of every man, woman and child—so it seems—at one of the performances.

Everybody wishes to see the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty Circus this year, which last year returned from a triumphal five year tour of Europe, and it is a foregone conclusion that the world's largest tent, seating 10,-000 persons, will be filled to the last chair afternoon and night. Six rings and stages and the hippodrome track, to say nothing of the vast aerial maze for the earth's foremost aneric talent — 400 acknowledged kings and queens of daring, grace, skill and incredible agility. Sixty clowns will project ten times that number of mirth waves. Countless new foreign features and innovations new to America are introduced on the gigantic program of the world's greatest amusement institution. Clyde Beatty's gigantic trained animal exhibition will be presented in the main performance.

Throughout circus day the three gigantic tented stables of the Cole Bros,-Clyde Beatty organization will be open to the public free of charge. Here lovers of fine horses may view at random hundreds of the world's most beautiful thoroughbreds. Perfect specimens of almost every known strain will be found in the big show's great free horse fair which also includes a congress of tiny Shetland ponies to delight the little folks.

One of the largest, finest and costliest street parade will be seen at 11 a. m. Hundreds of horses, five herds of elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert will be seen. In the picturesque line of march will be more than three score elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats, tableau wagons and open dens and cages displaying the Clyde Beatty menagerie. Doors will open at 1 and 7 p. m. The big shows start at 2 and 8 p. m.

FOSSIL IS FOUND BY SCHOOL BOY

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—Recognition of the discovery of Allan Bennison, a high school boy, of the first dinosauria fossil specimen from the west coast of North America, has been extended by the magazine, Science, of New York and Lancaster, Pa., official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The discovery was made near Patterson, Cal., after Bennison had uncovered other rare fossil remains in the vicinity of the nearby town of Gustine.

The article for Science was prepared by Curtis J. Hesse and S. P. Welles of the University of California Museum of Paleontology, who made an exhaustive study of Bennison's discoveries. They noted that while the dinosaur fossil remains are very fragmentary ,there are over 500 pieces of bone, from which it is hoped to make an accurate determination of the form represented.

The authors remarked that while Cretaceous deposits of California are extensive and many thousand invertebrate fossils have been collected, vertebrates of any kind are exceedingly rare, which makes Bennison's find a notable one.

Mission La Purisima Conception Founded 1787

(Concluded from August 21)

Jose M. Echeandia, first Mexican governor of California, arrived in 1829 and connived with young California politicos to seize Purisima Concepcion along with the other missions. Final legislation confiscating the missions was not published until November 4, 1834, but for some reason haste was made to obtain the lands of Purisima and on November 30th of that year Domingo Carrillo was named civil commissioner to take over the property. The mission and its possessions were appraised at $61,976.37, less debts of $1,217,-87, on February 18, 1835, and on March 1st delivery was made to Carillo.

What destruction was wrought at Purisima in a few short years is revealed by a report of William E. P. Hartnell, inspector of missions under the civil government and a friend of the Franciscans, submitted in January, 1839. Hartnell reported 122 Indians at the mission, most of them ill and in need of food and clothing. He ordered 300 cattle killed to purchase $800 worth of clothing for the neophytes.

During 1841-1842, Jose Antonio de la Guerra was administrator at Purisima and he is charged with having dissipated what was left of the mission property Preceding chapters of this little history of the missions have dealt with the effort made by Governor Manuel Michel-torena to restore the missions to the Franciscans, of his banishment from the country by Pio Pico, who proclaimed himself governor, and of Pico's sale of the California missions to various political friends. It is not necessary to repeat those sad facts here.

On December 4, 1845, Pico sold Purisima Concepcion to John Temple for $1,110.

"Thus," says Fr. Englehardt, "came to an end Mission Purisima Concepcion within two days of the 58th anniversary of its founding by Fermin de Lasuen, the successor of Fr. Junipero Serra."

President Abraham Lincoln had returned to the Catholic church a number of the Franciscan missions and on January 24, 1874, President Ulysses S. Grant gave back to the church all that remained of Purisima Concepcion.

Deserted by its devoted priests and the Indian neophytes, the Mission rapidly decayed and in 1882, Mrs. Helen Hunt Jackson, United States Indian Inspector, describing the California missions, rote: "The the California missions wrote: "The La Purisima Concepcion Mission. Nothing is left there but one long, low adobe building, with a few arches of the corridor; the door stands wide open, the roof is falling in; it has been so often used as a stable and sheepfold, that even the grasses are killed around it. Many of the trees are gone, and those that remain stretch out gaunt and shriveled boughs, which, though still bearing fruit, look like arms tossing in vain reproach and entreaty."

Twenty three years later, George Wharton James, in 1905, wrote: "Everything at Purisima Concepcion now is in sad ruin."

Fr. Englehardt says that after the spoilation and abandonment of the mission, the whole valley became a sort of wilderness, even the Indian rancherias gradually disappeared.

In October, 1874, the country surrounding the old mission was divided into farms and town lots and settlers established what now is the city of Lompoc. A Catholic community grew up around Lompoc largely due to the efforts of Rev. J. B. McNally, who was in charge of the seminary near Mission Santa Inez. In 1910 Fr. John Reynolds took over as resident priest at Lompoc, where a Catholic church had been erected. He was succeeded by Rev. Charles N. Raley in 1912, which was the 125th anniversary of the founding of Mission Purisima, whose ruins stood only three blocks from the church.

And with the coming of Fr. Raley there began a new era for La Purisima Concepcion. He inspired a civic celebration held December 5, 1912, in observance of the mission anniversary and a huge cross was raised on the hillside facing the ruins of the first mission. Bishop Thomas J. Conaty of the diocese of Los Angeles and Monterey attended with many dignitaries, state and county officials, representatives of the Native Sons and Native Daughters and himself blessed the cross that now stands at Lompoc and by night is illuminated with electric lights.

Definite plans for restoration of the mission were laid in November 1814 at a meeting called by Father Raley. These plans grew and today a new mission Purisima Concepcion is being constructed along lines of authentic restoration by the California State Park Division assisted by the National Park Service and the CCC, and mission authorities from Mission Santa Barbara.

Mission visitors motoring north from Santa Barbara have the choice of two routes to Purisima Concepcion, one by way of San Marcos Pass, State Route 80, to Buellton and Santa Ines Mission, thence west from Buellton to the Coast Highway, the State Route No. 2, and then 16 miles on State Route 149 to Lompoc; and the other by way of the Coast Highway State Route No. 2, U. S. 101, to Las Cruces and thence northwest 22 miles to Lompoc.

Coming from the north the way is over State Route No. 2 from San Francisco through Santa Maria to Orcutt, thence south 7 miles on the Coast Highway to its junction with State Route 56, thence southwest to Lompoc.

Or coming from the north, the mission visitor may motor over the Valley Route, State Route No. 4, to Bakersfield, thence south and west to Taft and Maricopa, west on State Route No. 57 to Santa Maria, south through Orcutt to the junction of State Route 56 and the Coast Highway and then west to Lompoc, situated in the fertile Lompoc Valley, known as "The Valley Beautiful."

Any of these routes make a delightful scenic trip. The visitor to Mission Purisima Concepcion also may reach Lompoc from the south or north over the Southern Pacific lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Taylor of Vallejo and their little son, Eugene were the week end guests of Mr. Taylor's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cottrell of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Armstrong of Nevada City returned a few days ago from Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Armstrong had gone to consult a specialist in regard to his health. He states he is feeling fine and he looks better than he has in many years. Mr. Armstrong has the greatest praise for the Mayo Clinic. While away Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong visited friends in Minneapolis a week. Mr. Armstrong stated they were happy to return to their beautiful home on Nevada street and felt there was no place like this city.

Mr. Chester Scheemer, of the Plaza Grocery, and Mrs. J. C. Scheemer, returned Monday evening from a week's vacation in Yosemite Valley. They also visited the big trees and many other places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook of Merced spent the past week end in Gold Flat visiting Mrs. Cook's parents, Mr and Mrs. Gomer Hopkins.

Mrs. Ruth Austin, of the Miners Lunch received word Wednesday that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Grounds of Yakima had passed away Monday. This is the fourth loss through death that Mrs. Austin has sustained in two years, having lost two brothers and a sister in that time.

Mrs. Lucy Kent and daughter, Miss Myrtle Kent, of Bisbee, Arizona, have come to Nevada City to spend some time visiting Mr. Kent's brother, William Jeffrey and family of Sacramento street. Mrs. Kent left this city about fourteen years ago and as she is nit in the best of health thought the change would be beneficial.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Kervin of this city left on a vacation recently and will visit in Reno, Nevada, and other places of interest before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Reeder of San Bernardino, who have been visiting his brother, Dr. David H. Reeder and family of this city, on Wednesday left on their return trip to their home.

Clifford Warner, artist, returned Tuesday from Downieville where he has been for the past four weeks. While in Downieville Mr. Warner made several sketches, both black and white and in colors, of many of the historic buildings in and around Downieville.

Mrs. Bertha Schroeder and daughter, Miss Delores Schoeder, left Wednesday for a vacation of a few weeks They will visit in their former home town, Roseville, Sacramento and bay cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Everett and young son of Monrovia, California, are enjoying a short visit in Nevada City. Mr. Everett formerly lived here working at the Diamond Creek mine in 1928 when Jim Stewart operated it.

Miss Evelyn Connor, of Nevada City and Miss Bertha Levin of San Jose enjoyed a motor trip through Yellowstone National Park and also visited many other places of interest. They returned home Sunday after a two week's vacation.

Theodore Tobiassen, deputy sheriff, is quite ill with flu.

Mrs. Gladys Rockfeller and daughter, Miss Fern Rockfeller, of Gold Flat are spending a short time in San Francisco this week.

Mrs. Anna Tucker, deputy county recorder, is spending a two week vacation in San Francisco.

Miss Elma Hecker, deputy county treasurer, and Miss Bernice Clemo, are spending this week at Donner Lake.

Frank Steel, county treasurer, returned last week end from a weeks vacation spent on a motor trip through northern California, Klamath Falls and Crater Lake, Oregon, returning by the Redwood Highway through Lake county.

Mrs. Will Davis and two sons of Blue Tent are spending a vacation in Portland, Oregon, visiting Mrs. Davis' mother.

ODD FELLOWS IN REUNION SUNDAY

The Odd Fellow Lodges of this district are preparing for a big reunion Sunday, August 30 at Tamarac Flat a few miles above Auburn. Signs will be placed to direct all to the beautiful grounds. Committees from a part of the lodges are: Lee Herman and Will E. Wakefield, Auburn, J. Frederickson and J. Kaufman, Colfax, G. Bennetts and G. Greleny, Grass Valley, Louis Netz, Elmer Peterson and Vincent Warren, Nevada City.

Breakfast between seven and nine o'clock will be served by the Auburn lodge, and will be free. A baseball game and other sports interspersed with music from the Odd Fellows band of Sacramento, consisting of 28 pieces, will begin at nine and last until 11 o'clock in the morning .From 11 to 12 o'clock will be a get-to-gether visit. At noon a pot luck lunch, supplied by individual members and families, will be served. Sports and music will start at one and last until four o'clock. Swimming, fishing, card playing and various other sports will be included in the program.

All Odd Fellows, their wives, children and guests are expected to attend this delightful affair, which is planned to be the biggest event for them in many years. If it proves a success the lodges plan to make the reunion an annual event.

FRIDAY

THE BORDER PATROLMAN—George O'Brien and Polly Ann Young in a stirring melodrama of chasing smugglers in wild rides over the desert.

SATURDAY

LITTLE MISS NOBODY—Jane Withers plays havoc with the heart strings in this tender story of fears, thrills and laughter and cutting capers.

Thru the Knot Hole

A Glimpse of Building Activity

Vol. 1. AUGUST 28, 1936. No. 40.

We have instock a shingle stain that is lasting and easily applied. It comes in eleven popular colors and will protect your roof and make your home have that attractive and well-kept appearance.

Have you a room, chairs, tables, or other articles around your home that needs a new coat of paint to refresh and brighten? We have both Paints and Enamels that will help you make your home cheerful and charming.

With the fall season comes the need of more storage space for fruit, vegetables and wood. We have a waterproof cement and waterproofing compounds that will make your basement an ideal place for a storage—dry and free from dampness—and it can be done at a small cost. May we help you plan your basement.

How about your roof? Did it leak last winter? If it is old and needs replacing let us show you our large stock of Redwood and Cedar Shingles and Sugar Pine Shakes. These shingles and shakes put on with galvanized nails will last many years.

If you prefer the composition shingles in the many colors and shapes we have a display board at our yard and will be glad to show them to you and tell you the cost of re-shingling your home.

Have you ever looked at a friend's bathroom or kitchen and thought how you would like yours to look as clean and beautiful? So much time is spent in both of these rooms that they should be as attractive as possible. Let us show you the Permanent, Porcelain-like Waterproof Bestile in wide assortment of attractive colors. Will not peel, crack or craze. Easily kept clean with damp cloth. SAVES ABOUT HALF THE COST OF ORDINORY TILE. Bestile can be used for new or old construction, and mouldings to harmonize are obtainable.

Postman's Wife: Why, Pa, you look all tuckered out.

Postman: I sure am, I've been all over town lookin' for a guy named "Fragile."
